FUN FACT: DID YOU KNOW?? Sharks belong to a family of fish that have skeletons made of cartilage, a tissue more flexible and lighter than bone. Their bodies are rounded and tapering at the ends. They breathe through a series of five to seven gill slits located on either side of their bodies. All sharks have multiple rows of teeth, and while they lose teeth on a regular basis, new teeth continue to grow in and replace those they lose.
